This System originally served as the Nomads main hub in the Sirius Sector. Human settlers learned about it when a Rheinland explorer found a strange looking jump gate deep inside the green nebulae in Omicron Alpha. The Order then lead the attack by joint fleets against the Nomads, which ended with Nomads defeat and also destroyed the huge central planet serving as the Nomad base. A moon orbiting the same collapsed planet survived, and was later colonised by humans who named it Crossfire; a name which fits well in this System's layout. Traffic in this System is still very high, and only a few years ago two orbital shipyards were built close to Planet Crossfire, which used material from surrounding asteroid field (remnants of the main planet mentioned earlier) for capital ships production.

However, the latest affair occurring in this System brought renewed fear, and showed people had not learnt the lesson from the last great war in the old Sol System. People were unable to find a common way on how to continue. Two different ideologies arose: one called Alliance Star Fleet (ASF) and the other Confederated Strike Force \(CSF\). In X-3043 started again fighting, and both groups have built their central station (HQ) with shipyards where were started producing not only fighters but capital ships as well.
