New London is the heart of the Bretonia House and as such is filled by numerous commercial bases owned by different corporate companies. Areas surrounding these bases are usually filled by Bounty Hunters who regularly support local armed forces in skirmishes against local criminals. Centre for criminal activity in this System is the Trafalgar Base operated by Junkers, which is used by most outlaws as their main resupply point.

New London is also a System with many entry & exit points where only Jump Gates (Aegis) at the end of trade lanes are patrolled by the Army. Others are usually used by criminals and smugglers since New London is also a place where one can purchase certain costly black market goods. Clever traders can, on certain days, make a fortune by trading such items, but the risk of high financial fines and/or destruction of their businesses, by the hand of police forces, is very high.

New London is also a highly polluted System. Intense and in many cases over subscribed mining, together with industrial production produced by the extraction of minerals from the mined materials, seriously pollutes the System. Biproducts of such industrial activity have produced highly toxic radiation fields together with dangerous exploding gas regions in many of the asteroid and debris fields found within the System. Hence, extreme care should be taken when entering any field or alternatively, it may be wiser to journey only on the prescribed trade lanes.
