After a large portion of the passengers - not the crew - left the ship (Sleepership Hispania) in Omicron Gamma, stealing all remaining lifeboats and shuttles to become the Corsairs the crippled sleeper ship Hispania limped on a yet untold odyssey through uncharted space anomalies, jumpholes, life counteracting nebulas. The planet they looked at after they finally managed to leave such a nebula into open space seemed even better than at Omicron Gamma. What a betrayal. But beside acid oceans, cold winds and gray skies its vast plains of otherwise useless orange grass, the offered a mean to endure their life, the only true resource of the planet being the only natural source of -- Cardamine --.

Now the planet, that due to some ancient ruins they found early in their history they named after the almost prehistoric mediterranean isle -- MALTA--, sits like a spider in its web of drug smuggling but is also the centre of wide ranging strategic operations to ensure and eventually spread their, by some called "inhuman", by others "trans human" kind.
