1. Description

Originally a loose assemblage of habitat modules intended to provide quarters for Deep Space Engineering crews constructing a Trade Lane through the system, the station was abandoned upon completion of the Trade Lane and eventually became home to the Zoners. The station was dubbed Freeport 6, and with the addition of a Synth Foodsbiodome, has become largely self-sufficient. Because of its strategic location in the Border Worlds, it is a frequent way station for cargo runs by bretonian and kusari shipping companies, as well as a springboard for IMG and Zoner expeditions.
